STATE CAPITOL NEWS

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— An improved financial outlook for California's state government was evident on several fronts as improved economic conditions resulted in steadily increasing revenues.

Income from the state gasoline tax continued to increase through June to bring the total reveune from this source up to $46,847,585 for the fiscal year ending June 30, according to a report of the state board of equalization. Last year's tax amounted to $39,922,123.

Breaking all previous records, the tax on beer and wine reached a total of $212,745, for the month of June, the first time the tax has exceeded $200,000 for any single month.

State controller Ray L. Riley recently called in registered warrants amounting to more than $4,200,000 to reduce the state's outstanding warrant debt to approximately $48,000,000.

According to plans of fiscal officers, additional warrants totaling $17,000,000 will be redeemed between now and the middle of September, it was announced.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam's attention to the asserted "spoils system" activities of E. H.Christian as chairman of the state personnel board, was called by a letter written by Mrs. Harriet J. Eliel, president of the California League of Women Voters, in which she said that the civil service system faced "complete disruption" if the board continued to ignore recommendations of its technical staff.

The most recent of an unprecendented number of investigations was started when Arlin E. Stockburger, state director of finance, announced that state employes have assertedly been using railroad passes and then charging the state for regular traveling expenses.

The accusations were aimed particularly at Herbert Davis, executive officer of the fish and game commission, who said he had presented such claims as a means of making up the cost of airplane travel. The state does not permit claims for transporation on planes, allowing only the regular railroad fare.

Pending outcome of the inquiry, use of railroad passes by employes of the division of fish and game was prohibited.

Existence of another old age pension movement was revealed here when application was made of thhe secretary of state for registration of the name, "Citizens' Pension Club."

The proposal would include an "honorable state tax" to finance pensions for persons over 60 years of age with an income of less than $1200 a month.

The pensions would range from a minimum of $60 a month to a maximum of $75 a month, according to the application.

MANY NEW AUTOS HAVE ILLEGAL LIGHTS

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— Automobile manufacturers will be asked to cooperate in correcting improper lights on new cars which have increased motoring hazards in California according to Ray Ingels director of the motor vehicle department.

Vehicles stopped by traffic officers because of illegal lights include an amazing number of new cars, Ingels said. The machines carry lights with the beam right at the glare point, but just within the law's requirements. When drivers fail to lower the beam in passing oncoming machines it becomes a menace on the highways, he said.

Flexibility of the springs on new cars also is a contributing factor, Ingels reported. Lights which conform to all requirements while the rear seat is unoccupied are thrown at an illegal angle when carrying a load, he said.

Bob Jefford, county coroner, was in town on Wednesday to attend the inquest on the death of the unknown man who was killed near Floriston on Tuesday night.

Miss Amelia Zorich has returned from a visit with friends at Lake Tahoe.

WILBUR MAYNARD DIED SUNDAY

Death Follows An Illness of Four Years. Was An Active Civic Worker of the Town For Many Years.

Wilbur Maynard for many years manager of the Southern Pacific Hotel in Truckee, passed away Sunday in Stockton following an illness of four years. Hesuffered a nervous breakdown in February, 1932 and had been receiving medical attention since that time. He was taken seriously ill the early part of last week and the end came on Sunday.

Wilbur Maynard

Mr. Maynard took an active part in all the civic affairs of the town, serving as director of the Chamber of Commerce for many years. He was instrumental in bringing many people into the region to enjoy the vacation facilities the region had to offer.

For many years he was the director of winter sport for the Southern Pacific Co. and in this capacity he traveled extensively all over the state promoting winter sports. To him can be attributed much of the credit for the growth of winter sports centers in the state.

The National Ski Association tournament was held at Lake Tahoe in February 1932 due to his efforts. He made a special trip back east and was able to interest the tournament directors in holding the tournament in California. This was the first time such an event had been held in California and no doubt awakened great interest in winter sports in the state.

Mr. Maynard was the father of the Truckee-Tahoe Dog Derby which brought large crowds of people to the town for these events which were held for several years. He was also interested in bringing the movie companies to Truckee and was of great assistance to the companies while here on location.

Mr. Maynard is survived by his wife, Maude Maynard who in the last few months has been living in Sacramento and several sisters and mrothers in Omaha, Nebraska, his home before coming to California.

Funeral services were held in Sacramento on Tuesday and the body was cremated and the ashes shipped to Omaha for burial.

Army Air Repair Depot Now Being Surveyed

SACRAMENTO July 30—(UP)— Actual construction of the army's new $7,000,000 air corps repair depot at Ben Ali, near here, probably will start next fall, according to Captain Arthur W. Parker, quartermaster in charge of the project.

Preliminary work on the project already has started, with a crew of government surveyors locating boundaries of the 1200-acre tract recently acquired under authority of congress. Following this, topographical, grading and drainage surveys will be made.

Bids for contracts to construct major buildings on the site will be called after the preliminary surveys have been completed, Parker said.

Liquor Order Issued To Highway Patrol

ICE PALACE PROJECT ORDERED STOPPED

District Director of WPA Not Satisfied That Project Is Progressing As Fast As It Should. Men On Relief Now Without Work Due To This Order.

Gene Kenyon, district director of WPA was in Truckee last week and ordered the ice palace project closed.

Mr. Kenyon stated that he was not satisfied with the progress being made on the project and ordered Mr. Fred Marsh, area manager of the WPA to close the project down.

A.W. McGagin, was in town on Saturday and Sunday to investigate those who have been working on the WPA to ascertain who if any are entitled to state compensation under the National Security Act. With the closing of the WPA project the men will be thrown back on the county relief. It is earnestly hoped that this project can be reopened and these men given work.

The Chamber of Commerce, American Legion and the Truckee Lions Club have interested themselves in endeavoring to have this project again underway. They feel that those on relief should be given work and also that the completion of this project will be a great asset to the town.

PAUL DENIVELLE DIES AT SUMMER HOME

Board of Fire Underwriters Conduct Survey of Town

E. C. Adams, engineer, representing the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific has been in town this week conducting a survey of fire hazards, fire equipment and fire fighting facilities.

Mr. Adams was a guest at the Chamber of Commerce meeting on Monday and outlined to the members present the work he was doing.

He stated that no survey had been made of the town for ten years and he found conditions greatly improved and believed it would be possible for a reduction in fire insurance rates for the town. The business buildings he found were greatly improved and the fire fighting apparatus and the Volunteer Fire Department were commended. The McGlashan Water Co's. system he found had been improved so that adequate water was available at all times for fire fighting.

Mr. Adams stated that one of the greatest needs of the town was regulations regarding the construction of buildings to see that they conformed to the requirement for fireproof construction. This he believed would make a substantial reduction in fire insurance rates.

San Francisco Liquor Dealer Fined $200

J. Nardi of the firm of Nardi Bros., wholesale liquor distributors of San Francisco was given a hearing in the local court before Judge C. E. Smith last Saturday morning charged with selling liquor not containing the state revenue stamps.

Nardi was fined $200 by Judge Smith.

Nardi was arrested on a Nevada county warrant issued for state and federal officers when Nardi Bros. liquor was found in a store conducted by J. G. Tucori and Paul Zarubi at Floriston.

A hearing on the application of the revoking the Nardi Bros. license as a result of their operations will be held in San Francisco shortly.

Dog, Cat and Rat Are Close Friends

Strange indeed is the friendship between Monty the dog, Damon the cat, and Pythias the white rat, recent visitors at the California Pacific International exposition in San Diego, with their master, Beverly B. Dobbs. They have visited many parts of the world together.

CANDIDATE PLEDGES CHAMBER HIS SUPPORT

The action of the Truckee Chamber of Commerce in placing itself on record recently in favor of having the main street in front of the business establishments hard surfaced from curb to curb, was heartily endorsed this week by Tim O'Hanrahan, candidate for county supervisor.

The state highway department maintains a hard surface 16 foot section in the center of the street and two years ago they insfalled a drainage system to carry off the surface waters, which has been giving excellent results. On each side of this hard surface maintained by the state, there is a strip varying from 15 to 25 feet that is gravelled and that causes clouds of dirt and dust to enter the business houses whenever the wind blows. Representations made by the business people to county supervisors during the past ten years to have this condition remedied have been in vain.

In endorsing this project, O'Hanrahan states, "I have long advocated the surfacing of Main Street between Spring St. and Bridge St. and if elected I pledge myself to cooperate with the State Highway Department and the property owners in the completion of this work. It is one of the most urgent needed improvements in the town and would do much to eliminate the dirty and untidy appearance of the business section of the town."

Flow Of Truckee Is Held At 500 Feet

With the outlet gates at Lake Tahoe partly open, the Truckee river flow is being maintained at five hundred second feet, the measurements being taken at the Iceland station, Watermaster Harry Dukes stated.

On Monday the lake level stood at 6225.79 feet above the sea, and the flow from the lake into the Truckee river was 382 second feet. If the Tahoe gates were opened wide, a maximum of 650 second feet would be possible, according to the watermaster.

Lake Tahoe reached its high point for 1936 on July 2, when the elevation was 6225.900 feet, and the lake remained at that point until July 7. The low point for the 1935-1936 winter was 6232.22 feet.

O'Hanrahan Asks Support Of His Candidacy

Tim O'Hanrahan, candidate for supervisor from the fifth district appeared before the Chamber of Commerce on Monday and asked for the support of his candidacy by the members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. O'Hanrahan stated that he had large business interests in the town and that he was vitally interested in the welfare and development of the town. He did not advocate any changes that would necessitate the raising of taxes on property. He promised to represent the town and the district in a progressive manner and would endeavor at all times to work for the best interests of the people and the region.

Geo. Kamp returned to his home on Tuesday from the Hobart Hospital where he was operated on for the removal of his tonsils.

COMMENTS FROM CALIFORNIA NEWSPAPERS

By United Press

FATHER COUGHLIN OVERSTEPS

Father Coughlin's abusive reference to President Roosevelt during the Townsend convention evoked a storm of protest from California editors.

Both supporters and opponents of the administration severely condemned the radio priest for oversteping the bounds of decency in his attack on the nation's chief executive.

"It is to be regreted," said the Santa Cruz News, "that Father Coughlin, in his zeal for the political faction that he represents at the Townsend convention at Cleveland should have denounced the President of the United States as a liar and betrayer. Such language, directed at the man who presides over the destinies of this nation, ill-becomes a follower of the gentle Prince of Peace, who was never intolerant of others, even his enemies. * * * We may differ from the President in his policies and his acts, but we can all of us do that without subjecting him to insult."

"Father Coughlin," notes the San Francisco Chronicle, "pulled off his coat before calling President Roosevelt a 'liar.' There is no indication, however, that the divestment was a gesture of respect for the cloth. It appears to have been prompted by external and internal heat, with perhaps a well-calculated sence of the dramatic. But, coatless or not, the political priest sinned against the decencies and amenities of political discussion in calling the President of the United States a 'liar.' Respect for the office, if not for the person, should have suggested to the speaker the gross offense of his language."

"The presidency," points out the Orange Daily News, "is an institution of government, of equal authority and responsibility with the Supreme Court and no one thinks of attacking the individual members of the Supreme court, no matter how vigorously that body as a whole may be criticized. * * * It is improper, therefore to direct criticism against the President in his private character. In that character, he should be entirely exempt from criticism. In his public character, he is a fair mark. We cannot, therefore, approve of the personal attacks made upon the President by Father Coughlin at the Townsend convention. There are sufficient grounds for criticism of Roosevelt policy and Roosevelt record. There is no justification for personalities."

The priest's "intemperate language, which," according to the Stockton Record, "reeks of the gutter rather than the pulpit or even the political platform, requires no answer from anyone. * * * He is sufficiently shown up by his own immoderate language. He is revealed as one who reflects on the cloth he wears. Furthermore, he is a source of humiliation to many in the great church he serves—a church which numbers a host of communicants who are warm admirers and supporters of the President whom Father Coughlin reviles."

"The effects of Father Coughlin's better denunciations of the President," remarks the Fullerton News Tribune, "are a matter of speculation. Extreme utterances have a way of reacting against the speaker and in favor of the victim in American political campaigns. No matter how earnestly one may feel in his opposition to the head of the government, it is hardly compatible with sane politics and capacity for leadership to resort to violent personal vituperation of the incumbent chief executive."

"Rev. Coughlin," states the Madera Daily Tribune, "has reached a point in his career where he should choose either to return to his alleged chosen profession or to surrender his church rights and enter the radical political field, where he seems to have placed himself. He is bringing criticism on an innocent third party—his religious faith. For its own protection, his church should silence the radical orator or ask that he surrender his position."

YOU MAY BE NEXT

Every fifteen minutes of every day and night of every year, on the average, an auto accident kills someone somewhere in the United States. The nation is conscious of this waste of lives, far worse than war, and active groups are trying, trying incessantly to end it.

But the slaughter goes on.

National safety councils, state councils, county and city and district safety councils work with the one purpose of ending it. State and city police and traffic courts and highway engineers work to end it. Newspapers and schools and civic groups and clubs work more or less actively to end it.

But still the slaughter goes on.

There are those who say highway deaths can never be checked and scoff at all these efforts. But it can be done. Look at the railroads, which in the old days killed hundreds yearly, but killed not a single passenger in 1935. How was it done? Southern Pacific has reported that deaths even among its train crews have been reduced from 64 in 1917 to a negligible figure this year in the same way safety was brought to passengers—through organized, incessant, conscious effort to end deaths.

But, still, on our highways, the slaughter goes on.

There is only one answer. No organized effort, no ceaseless campaigning, no strict enforcement alone can end it. The slaughter will end when each individual motorist in his own mind realizes his responsibility at the wheel of an auto. It will end then, and only then.

Drive carefully. You may be next!

A HIATUS IN TIME

If you would like to see a hiatus made visible, you should go to Iona.

It is a small island, three miles long by one and a half wide, as you stand on the deck of the steamer that brings you from Oban and casts anchor about three hundred yards from shore, you can take in Iona at a glance. A little concrete jetty stands out to sea, and behind it is the post office with its telegraph wires. Iona is famous for the mildness of its climate, and the white cart track running up from the shore flashes in the bright sunshine. The midges dance on the light breeze.

So far, everything is as modern as could be. You are in an atmosphere of stamps and letters and postal communications and telephone calls and steamers. The twentieth century is all about you. But everything is abruptly changed, once the landing has been made. The little road, on which no motorcar has ever been driven, soon bends to the right and passes diagonally up the side of a small mound. In doing so, without warning, without the slightest sign of gradual transition, it plunges back into the remotest history.

It was in Iona, in the year 563, that Christionity was introduced into the British Isles. It was then that Columba crossed over to it from reland with twelve companions. A eligious house that he established was repeatedly destroyed by the Vikings; and the purser from the steamer, acting as guide, points out to you its ruins as you climb the little hill. The hill itself is surmounted by the twelfth-century Norman cathedral, in front of which is the celebrated St. Martin's Cross, now more than eleven hundred years old. It is said that from hereabouts you can look out on to more than three hundred islands, glittering in the emerald sea.

In many an English town, it is not uncommon to find old things and new closely juxtaposed. A modern cinema will jostle an ancient college, a garage will face on to a cathedral close. But the links between these places are easy to trace. The history of Oxford, of Winchester, of Cambridge, of York and London, is continuous down the ages, and memorials of this continuity are to be found in them. They do not stay in the searchlight of history for several centuries, then pass into a band of darkness, and reemerge in modern days into renoun and notice. But that is what Iona has done.

The visitor to this island will find many a reminder that Iona was an important place from the sixth century to the sixteenth, and he can see before him the signs of modern development. But of what was happening in Iona when William III came over to England, or whilst Pope was London's reigning poet, or whilst Napoleon was astonishing the world—of these things it is not easy to find a memorial. In Iona the link between the centuries seems to be missing. On that small silver sanded island you come upon a hiatus in time.

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— Responsibility for the asserted political spoils system of hiring and firing employes in the Los Angeles office of the state board of equalization continued one of the moot questions at the state capitol.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam and Ray L. Edgar, whom Merriam appointed to represent Southern California on the board, resorted to various types of polite language to call each other liars as to the source of the list which resulted in the initial discharge of eight former employes of the board.

Merriam insisted that Edgar was "laboring under a mis-apprehension" when he insisted that the list was obtained from the governor.

Edgar was equally insistent that the governor's memory was short as far as events of the last six months are concerned. He added that he had made a deposition in Los Angeles that the list was given him by the governor and that he could be "prosecuted for perjury" if it wasn't true."

Evidence that the governor was considerably disturbed over the whole situation was seen in the fact that it took him three days to prepare an answer to Edgar, with numerous re-writings of the retort necessary before it was satisfactory to the chief executive.

Despite denial's on the part of Edgar, observers were confident that he had sought some other state post of equal income after the liquor situation had proved to be "one of those things."

Edgar frankly revealed his dissatisfaction with his present position when he pointed out that the legislative committee in Los Angeles "probably was right" when he said that the El Centro board member "should be back picking cotton."

Governor Merriam's proposal to set up a joint relief administration between the counties and the SRA met with a very definite set-back when the county supervisors rose up and insisted on "home rule."

The supervisors, obviously fearful of the trend of events which has seen the state take over much of their highway system, part of their police powers, braced their feet when it came down to a continuation of SRA administration of relief and insisted that they be given full powers to control direct relief in the future.

"If we don't make this demand," said C. E. Greer, San Bernardino supervisor, "the end of county government is in sight.

Finally the supervisors made the demand of a long-term relief program based on the contention that governmental relief was a permanent proposition.

Despite the claim of the governor's advisors that the recall movement is gaining little headway, disturbing reports of the success of political enemies continue to filter into the capitol and odds on the possibility that the proposition would qualify for the November ballot have taken several drops.

Certain of the so-called liberal group, a number of which tave taken part in the recall movement, find themselves up against the "definite threat" of the candidacy of Earl Warren, widely known district attorney of Alameda county and a republican leader.

So far there has been no crystalization of sentiment in favor of any one candidate, should the recall take a more tangible form, but some of the original sponsors frankly are worried about the trend of events.

More Deer This Year But Harder To Find

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— California sportsmen will have more deer to hunt this year, but they will be harder to find.

This is the prediction of state game wardens as they prepared for the opening of the deer season in three districts August 1.

Field observers in the California deer range country reported to the state department of natural resources that the year emerged from a winter "ideal in every respect for the health of adult deer herds." It was an "open" winter, with less feed destroyed by freezing and fewer fatalities resulting among herds from lack of forage.

"Heavy late winter and early spring rains reopened countless old springs in the range areas," a report said. "With abundant feed, thicker cover and a greater distribution of nature's water supply the deer population will be larger and more healthful—but more scattered.

"More of them—but harder to find."

Last year 21,940 deer were shot by licensed hunters, the department reported. Appriximately 110,000 hunters bought deer tags in 1935.

It is estimated there are 425,000 head of deer in the state, ranging over 89,000 square miles of territory. There are five types of Mule deer and one of Black Tail.

The deer season will open August first in the following areas:

District 2—Marin, Solano, Napa, Yolo and Sonoma counties and parts of Mendocino, Colusa and Lake counties.

District 3—Portions of Monterey, San Benito, Kings, Fresno, Madera, Merced, Stansilaus, San Joaquin, Contra Costa, Alameda, Santa Clara, San Mateo and Santa Cruz counties.

Other districts in the state open August 16, September 1 and September 16. Nightfall of October 15 marks the end of the deer season throughout the state.

Most of the alcohol produced in this country comes from black molasses imported at two and a half cents per gallon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Matthews of Reno and Mr. and Mrs. Petronivich of the same city were guests of Chris Nielsen at Tahoe Park on Sunday last enjoying a spin in Mr. Nielsen's speed boat on the lake.

Major Arthur Crist of Tahoe Pines is this week entertaining a cousin, Richard Fowler of Indianapolis who was accompanied west by two companions Chadbourn Shaw and Bud Miller, also guests for several days.

Ray Crist is back at Tahoe again following an interesting and exciting sojourn in Alaska where he was accompanied by his cousin Wiley Crist. The two young men, who departed Tahoe's shores on May 9th last, have many thrilling tales to tell and received a practical education in flying during their travels. Although only amateur aviators they were permitted on various occasions to handle the stick of the Canadian National railroad planes at Skagway, Juneau and Whitehorse and included in their air travels a flight over Muir Glacier said to be the largest permanent glacier in existence which is 30 miles long. Fishing too was excellent in Alaskan waters, a fine 20 pound trout being hooked by young Crist on Lake Atlin which is famous for it's well stocked supply. Even after all their extensive exploring the boys still contend that Lake Tahoe is the most beautiful spot in the world.

Grant Lowry, Wanda Nelson, Rex Mawdsley, Patsey Henry and Sherwood Prusso were the five graduates from the grammar grade who received their diplomas on Friday night last at the exercises at the Tahoe Lake Grammar school auditorium. Mrs. Portia Moss of Auburn delivered a short and interesting address before the presentation and an operetta titled 'The Magic Bean Stalk' was admirably presented by the elementary grade classes. Billie Bechdolt took the leading part and was dressed as a young admiral. Miss Patsy Henry was his mother, in the play, and Frank Hale provided considerable comedy in the role of the ferocious giant. In fact, he portrayed his part so vehemently that near the close of the play, one scene which called for an assault upon poor little 'Jack' with intent to commit murder, threw the audience into a prolinged uproar as his leopard skin, the only rainment he wore, fell off completely. Luckily he wore a pair of swimming trunks beneath in which he retired hastily. He also provided some good laughs when his mop of long hair (the dusting end of an O'Cedar mop) fell off his head a time or two. Immeasurable credit is due Mrs. Myrtle Gallinger and her assistant Mrs. Steinman, for the excellent coaching given the young thespians, which made the operetta possible. Only a week is allowed for the preparation and yet even the youngest class performed with credit. A large crowd filled the auditorium and complimented the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. D. M. Watson of Witchita, Kansas, a niece of Mrs. H. H. Hull, accompanied by her husband spent last week end at Tahoe visiting.

The Tahoe City telephone exchange is establishing quite a record for itself this year, having now on the switchboard six operators the greatest number ever employed locally at one time in the history of the exchange.

George Danforth, talented violinist employed for the summer with Joaquin Grill's Tahoe Tavern orchestra, is the soloist who is furnishing the local Catholic chapel such inspiring music each Sunday. Last week Mr. Danforth numbered among his selections, 'Meditiation from Thais' by Masseuet, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Munyan who is a guest at the Buck home at Tahoe. The chapel was again overflowing with worshipers whose number far exceeds that of other former years.

J. J. Sugamann of Los Angeles was host on Sunday evening last at a delightful birthday dinner at Prusso's Forest Inn and Gardens, the honoree being Mrs. George Kehlet of Meek's Bay. The tables were attractively decorated with flowers and candles and a most enjoyable time was the lot of those attending. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Kehlet and daughter Bonnie Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kehlet, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Miss Perle Allen, Miss Ginger Wynn and Mark and Mr. J. J. Sugarmann.

Lyle Sampson of Piedmont and Art Crist Jr. flew to Reno on Friday night. They were members of a houseparty at the Gilbert Atkinsin's on the Truckee river at which also were present Betty Atkinson, Kay Cooper, George Crist, Kay Cole, Paul Divert and Connie Louppe. On Saturday night all were guests of Tahoe Tavern for dinner following which Art Crist Jr. and Chester Morris, Hollywood movie star visiting at the Tavern, entertained the group with a number of piano duets in the green room at the Tavern. Both Mr. Morris and young Crist are talented musicians, with numerous modern compositions to their credit.

Mrs. Ted Marshall of Marshall's Inn, was agreeably surprised on Thursday last when her sister, Mrs. Frances Newby of Chicago, accompanied by her husband and son Donald walked in upon her for a week's visit at Tahoe. The Newbys came by way of Salt Lake City enroute to San Francisco where Mr. Newby has accepted a position.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lindsay and daughter Betty of Chicago have been enjoying a sojourn at Tahoe at the F. P. Cutting estate on the lake shore at Homewood. Mr. Lindsay is President of Dry Zero Incorporated at Chicago.

Mrs. John Maderos has returned from a two week's vacation in Sacramento.

Howard Lindberg was a recent visitor in Livermore where he went to visit his father and mother.

Governor Richard Kirman purchased a large tract of land eight miles north of Glenbrook last week from the Bliss Brothers Company. The land has a frontage on the lake of 1000 feet according to the deed. Governor Kirman is reported to have paid $10 per front foot for it.

Fire of unknown origin leveled the home of Ware Little, city clerk of Piedmont, situated at Homewood, on Tuesday about 8 p. m. The Littles had permitted friends to occupy their place while they returned for a few days to their Piedmont home. Their guests had motored to Reno and it was during their absence that the fire destroyed the property. The house was a two story building and was built four years ago. Loss is estimated at $3,000 and is partially covered by insurance.

The fire department of Chambers Lodge rushed to the scene and with the aid of CCC boys from Rubicon Camp confined the blaze to the immediate vicinity of the house.

The Young Men's Institute will hold it's 52nd annual grand councile at Globin's, Lake Tahoe on August 9th. State Senator Thomas P. Scollan, former grand president, will be honorary representative from Sacramento chapter and Henry J. Soldati of Petaluma will preside.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Chas Harris of Timberland Tract entertained last week Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Frederick of Berkeley. Dr. Frederick and Mr. Harris are life long friends and attended high school together. It was during this period of their lives that they decided to acquire their first glimpse of Lake Tahoe. That was way back in 1898 in the month of June. Arriving here they very nearly froze as the month was cold that year. Their names still appear on the old Fish Hatchery register. Dr. Frederick found many changes in Tahoe and thoroughly enjoyed his visit with the cordial Harris household.

Arriving at the Harris residence this week are Mrs. A. B. Anderson and Mrs. Edward Westrick of Oakland who will visit indefinitely.

On Sunday afternoon about 4 p. m. a car driven by Bud Moran, former Bal Bijou bartender, and owned by Mrs. Sherwood Hitchcock, 27, who was also a passenger, left the highway at a sharp curve in the road about two miles west of Brockway Vista, turning over in a field and critically injuring the woman, who is a native of Pheonix, Arizona. Dr. Carrol of Brockway was called and administered first air, using fence rails for temporary splints in dressing her right leg which received a compound fracture. She also received a possible fractured skull, chest and internal injuries. It was reported that she underwent an emergency operation in Washoe General Hospital, Reno, where she was rushed, and was in very critical condition.

Moran was unhurt but became abusive at the scene of the wreck, according to witnesses, and was knocked out by a husky Brockway cowboy whose identity was not learned. Highway Patrolman Gene Walker who investigated the accident also came in for his share of abuse and placed his charge in the Tahoe concrete bastile to cool off. He was charged with a felony, drunken driving with injury occurring to his companion. Raising a terrific commotion he proceeded to curse, scream, threaten suicide and finally managed to tear apart the iron cot in the jail and with pieces of the iron demolished the interior, even the lavatories, setting fire to bedclothing and mattresses. When officer came to rescue him from the smoke filled room he stood beside the door with a bar, threatening them. The blaze was finally extinguished and he was returned to the jail. Next morning he was entirely subdued and somewhat ashamed of his wild behavior. Taken to Tahoe Inn for breakfast by Constable Harry Johanson and Patrolman Gene Walker he appeared entirely composed and inquired calmly "What happened?" A black eye was his only injury. District Attorney Lowell Sparks ordered Johanson to bring the prisoner directly to Auburn where he was arraigned and will await trial.

The woman's condition continued critical, according to reports, and should she die it is more than likely manslaughter charges will be placed against the fighting Irishman, Moran. Her car was badly wrecked.

Richard Dix of movie fame and his wife motored from their Beverly Hills home to sojourn at Tahoe Tacvern indefinitely. Mr. Dix will appear on Wednesday evening, according to an announcement, at which time one of his newest pictures will be shown at the Casino theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Grayson L. Rogers and daughter Joanne of San Francisco have returned to their home after a ten day visit with Mrs. E. C. Rogers of Tahoe.

Gene Rogers, formerly of the Tahoe Mercantile Co. now employed with a San Francisco firm, flew up from the city to spend the week end at his home.

Bridge Authority To Make Plans on Grand Opening

SACRAMENTO, July 30 —(UP)— The momentous question of whether the ceremonies attending the opening of the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge next November 12 should "go Hollywood," or be conducted in the usual staid manner of such affairs, will be decided at some future date, the California Toll Bridge Authority agreed at a meeting here.

Under tentative plans for the ceremonies, Governor Merriam was to have snipped a ribbon in two with a pair of scissors. But, moving picture interests insisted the governor should cut through a chain with a blow torch, in order to provide a better shot for their cameramen.

The ceremonies are to be broadcast by two national radio hookups, and include activities at both the Oakland and San Francisco terminals of the bridge.

Census Shows Institutional Population Is Decreasing

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— California now has an institutional population of 33,145 persons in addition to 6,883 on parole, according to the quarterly census bulletin of the department of institutions.

The total represents a decrease of 144 from the previous quarter, but still represents a tremendous overload when compared to requirements for which the institutions originally were built, officials said.

More than half the institutional cases are cared for in the six state hospitals which have a combined population of 20,004 men and women.

The two state prisons are next on the list with San Quentin prison the largest single state institution with a population of 5,540 inmates. There are 2,892 prisoners in Folsom.

The state narcotic hospital is the smallest state institution with a population of 41, the report revealed.

Sacramento Ball Team To Wind Up In Cellar

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— Sacramento's Coast League team will wind up in the cellar position this season, but it will be a penant contender in 1937, in the opinion of Branch Rickey, Sr., executive of the St. Louis Cardinal chain.

Rickey so stated during a recent trip here to see President Phil Bartelme and Manager Bill Killefer of the local club. He expressed pleasure with the work of the Solons' present pitching staff and said the team would be bolstered by the addition of new players next year.

"Bartelme and Killefer will make heavy demands for players when they come to St. Louis next month for a conference," said Rickey. "I do not konw as yet where I will get them, but I simply will have to grant their requests."

MARINE ENLISTMENT INCREASE AUTHORIZED

Congress recently authorized an increase of 1000 men in the United States Marine Corps. As a result, there will now be more opportunities for desirable young men to serve with the Marines.

Applicants, who successwully pass the examination, may be transferred to the Marine Corps Base at San Diego without delay.

Anyone interested may obtain literature and information by consulting Postmaster, Mrs. E. C. Bavier, or by writing to the Marine Corps Recruiting Station, Room 46, Federal Building, San Francisco.

EXPENSE ACCOUNTS MUST BE ITEMIZED

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— Expense accounts of state employes will continue to have as their basis itemized vouchers covering hotel and meal costs, the state board of control indicated at a recent meeting here.

The issue was raised through a request of E. Raymond Cato for a flat rate of $6 per day while away from his headquarters. Final action on the request was delayed until the next meeting of the board.

The rule against allowing flat living expenses was adopted to protect the state against possibility of employes living in their own homes and still collecting the per diem allowance, according to State Controller Ray L. Riley, member of the board, and this policy was expected to be adhered to, board members indicated.

Scientists claim the rocks which make up the Palisades in New York are 150,000,000 years old.

The Golden Text will be: "He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love" (I John 4: 8). Bible selections will include the following passage from John 3: 16, 17: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: "Father-Mother is the name for Deity, which indicates His tender relationship to His spiritual creation" (p. 332).

State Watching Many Oil And Gas Activities

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— A campaign to give California investors at least a "reasonable gamble" in the purchase of stock in gas and oil projects has been undertaken by the division of real estate.

J. Mortimer Clark, real estate commissioner, announced that citations to show cause why stop orders should not be issued against more than 50 oil and gas projects in California, New Mexico and Texas have been issued since July 1.

"Many other citiations are in course of preparation and will be issued at an early date," Clark said. "They will include the great majority of the oil and gas projects now being sold in California."

The citations are being issued, it was explained, to give subdividers an opportunity to establish, if they can, whether there is adequate title, a reasonable possibility of obtaining oil or gas in commercial quantities, and reasonable prices.

Clark recently issued an order requiring all subdividers of oil and gas projects to file in the division apecific geological reports prepared by a geologist or petroleum engineer acceptable to the commissioner.

The order was made to stop miscellaneous sales of lands of doubtful value by indicating the public has a "reasonable gamble to obtain some returns on its investment.

"It was necessary to take this step to properly protect the public in these alleged investments," Clark said. "In New Mexico the leases were obtained from the state mostly at a price of 5 cents per acre. In many instances no regard was given as to whether the lands could reasonably be classed as oil and gas lands.

"The selling plans were purely promotional and the profits had been going into the pocket of the promoter and none to the investor. In most instances it was a complete loss to the investor.

New Party Candidate May Be On Ballot

SACRAMENTO July 23 —(UP)— Electors who voted in the May presidential primary are not barred from signing petitions to place the name of William Lemke, Union Party presidential candidate, on the November ballot, according to Attorney General U. S. Webb.

Under California law, there is no way in which the new third party itself can qualify, election officials said. But, in Webb's opinion, the candidate's name may be placed on the ballot as an independent through obtaining the necessary signatures to petitions.

Qualifying petitions would require 118,046 signatures of voters.

Because voters at the May primary cast ballots only for delegates to the national conventions, and did not actually participate in the nomination of candidates, Webb ruled, the law barring participants in primary elections from signing petitions in behalf of other candidates does not apply.

RANGERS ENFORCE FEDERAL TRAFFIC LAW

SACRAMENTO July 23 —(UP)— Visitors to national parks would avoid difficulty by observing to the letter all federal traffic regulations, according to a warning issued here.

Speed limit in the parks is 25 miles an hour. Other rules require observance of stop signs and prohibit cutting in and improper parking. Stiff fines are imposed for violations.

Motorists were warned that park rangers have been instructed to rigidly enforce all regulations.

EMPLOYE GIVEN PREFERRED PLACE

SACRAMENTO July 23 —(UP)— Employes of the state real estate department who lost their jobs five years ago through reduction in personnel are entitled to preferred places on the eligility lists for the positions, in the opinion of Jess Hession, deputy attorney general.

The ruling was given in the case of William A. Moody, San Francisco, who formerly was employed as supervising officer in the department. He claimed layoff status and a preferential position on the eligibility list when the personnel board recently called an examination for real estate investigators, contending that was the work actually performed in his former job.

Hession ruled he was entitled to the preferred place on the eligibility list, stating the statute of limitations did not apply. Several other former employes may be affected by the ruling.

Oil Polution Law Will Be Enforced

SACRAMENTO July 23 —(UP)— Possible solution of the problem of enforcing California laws governing oil polution of southern coastal waters was seen by state officials with the promise of "fullest cooperation" from the United State's coast guard.

Herbert C. Davis, executive officer of the state fish and game commission, said he had been informed by Lieutenant Commander C. W. Thomas of the coast guard that a cutter and crew has been assigned to prosecuting violators of the federal act prohibiting the oil polution of navigable ocean waters and that they have been ordered to assist the state "in every possible way."

As a result of a recent conference with federal officers, State Warden C. L. Towers and his survey chief, Paul A. Shaw, were offered transportation by land, water and air to further their work against the polution of state waters, Davis said.

New Descriptive Book To Be Published Soon

SACRAMENTO July 23 —(UP)— A full page description of the attractions of every county in California will be included in a book to be published by California State Employees, Inc., a subsidiary of the California State Employees' association, it was announced here.

The book, entitled "California Builds a Bridge," will commemorate the completion of the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge, supervised and constructed by state employes.

Circulation of the book will be to public officials and industrial leaders throughout the world, the announcement said.

The book will be fully illustrated with photographs.

INCOME TAX LAW UPHELD BY RILEY

SACRAMENTO, July 23 —(UP)— Belief that the California income tax law will be upheld in court actions now under way to test constitutionality of the act was expressed here recently by State Controlled Ray L. Riley.

Legality of the act was challenged in a suit filed in San Francisco on the grounds that it imposes unequal burdens on certain classes of taxpayers.

Riley said similar laws have been upheld by the courts in actions based upon like arguments. The burden is the same on all persons in given classes, he pointed out, thus establishing parity in all comparable instances.

INCUMBENT NAMES NOT TO HEAD LIST

SACRAMENTO July 23 —(UP)— Incumbent office holders seeking approval of the electorate at the August primary may be disappointed to learn their names will not automatically head the list of candidates for each office.

Because of an apparent oversight by the 1933 legislature in amending the election law, the names will appear alphabetically on the ballot.

Attorney General U. S. Webb pointed out the amendment adopted applied only to general elections and did not change the provisions of the primary law.

Large Number of Applicants Refused Drivers' Licenses

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 16 — (UP) — Proof that something more than an application is needed to obtain a driver's license in California was shown in a department of motor vehicles report that 3,406 persons failed to pass examinations for licenses last month. Ray Ingels, director of the department, said 237 persons were refused licenses because they were unable to satisfy officials that they could handle an automobile safely.

California Leads Nation In Production of Mercury

SACRAMENTO, Cal., — July 16 — (UP)—California led the nation last year in the production of domestic mercury, a federal report to the state division of mines revealed.

The state's production was placed at 7,808 flasks of 76 pounds each, valued at $576,738.

The near competitor in mercury production was Oregon with an output of 3,460 flasks, or less than half that of California.

New Plan To Finance Central Valleys Project

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— Possibility that the Central Valleys water project may be declared an act, to be financed under its own appropriations, was disclosed by William E. Warne, reclamation bureau publicity director, on a recent visit here.

If such action is taken by Congress, the project would acquire status similiar to that under which Boulder Dam was constructed, he said. He predicted further appropriations would be included for the project in the department of interior bill at the next session.

"The federal government is at a period of transition from allocation to appropriation which might make Central Valleys a project independent of yearly congressional funds much the same as Boulder Dam," Warne said.

State May Take First Place in Registrations

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— California may achieve the distinction of having more motor vehicles registered than any other state in the nation during 1936 if the unprecedented record of registrations continues for the next four months, according to Howard E. Deems, registrar of the department of motor vehicles.

For the first six months of this year, a total of 168,200 more automobiles, trucks and trailers were registered by the department than during the like period of 1935.

On July 10 the number of registrations had established a new all-time record by exceeding the total for the preceding year.

"This new record established in six months time," Deems said, "puts California equal in registrations to thirteen adjoining western states, including Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, Nevada, Arizona, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, North Dakota, South Dakota and Nebraska."

At present New York is the only state in the Union which exceeds California in total registrations.

But this supremacy, Deems said, wlil be threatened if the registrations, now being handled at the rate of 50,000 a month, continues unabated until the end of the year.

Fees collected during the first half of 1935 increased more than a million dollars over the same period a year ago, Deems reported. Much of this increase was attributed to the huge influx of tourists, many of whom remained as residents of the state. A total of 191,275 out-of-state vehicles were listed in the purchase of California license plates up to July 1.

Statistics of the department revealed the more than two and a quarter million vehicles thus far registered have paid an average of $3.71 "in lieu" tax. Of the total collected nearly $700,000 was assessed to out of state cars obtaining permanent registration.

STATE WIDE STRIKE PREDICTED IN FALL

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— A statewide general strike as the climax to a gigantic radical drive in California next fall was predicted in reports of private investigators received at the office of Clarence S. Morril, chief of the state division of criminal identification.

The data, including asserted conversations between investigators and known radicals, pamphlets predicting a general strike, and confidential letters, were submitted by agents of civic and patriotic organizations employed to delve into reported activities of subversive groups.

As outlined in the reports, the radical movement will have San Francisco as its cradle, with the maritime industry a focal point. The "blow-off" is expected to come in that city when present labor agreements on the waterfront expire September 30. But, according to information contained in pamphlets obtained by the investigators, "the mistakes made in the San Franicsco strike of 1934 will not be repeated."

In substantiation of their predictions, the investigators submitted a list of dates which they considered significant in connection with the radical "outbreak." These include the visit to San Francisco on August 12 of Earl C. Browder, communist candidate for president; a meeting August 15 of waterfront union leaders in secret conference either at San Pedro or San Francisco at which demands for a new working agreement will be drafted and September 30 when strike is predicted to follow expiration of the maritime workers' agreements.

One investigator reported that communists were making rapid progress in enrolling seamen on boats working out of San Fracisco.

"There are 12 ships with complete communist units among the crew," he said. "There are 15 other ships that have two or three communist members aboard." He explained a communist "unit" is 13 employes.

Names of the organizations whose agents turned in the reports were not divulged.

Ruling Souhgt On Status of "Tango" Boards

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— Outcome of a suit under way in superior court here was expected to determine definitely whether the game known as "tango" is one of skill or chance.

The action, instituted by six Southern California operators, seeks recovery of $2,378 already paid the state board of equalziation as sales tax on the games. Attorneys for the plaintiffs submitted briefs arguing that the tax does not apply to games of skill.

Board of equalization officials contend the games are illegal, violate the state anti-gambling law and therefore have no standing before the courts.

State Fair Officials Predict Large Attendance

SACRAMENTO July 30 —(UP)— Prediction of state fair officials that this year's exposition will attract the largest attendance in its history was bolstered by revelation that the second sale of scrip books brought in revenue total ing $1500.

The books contain ten admissions each and cost $2.50 apiece. Book No. 1 was purchased by Gov. Frank F. Merriam. The next sale, made to the Bank of America, was for 600 books.

Tickets in the scrip books are good for Admission at the main gate, grandstand or horse show and cut the regular price of 50 cents in half.
